Service and Support

With countless years of experience in wiring harness assemblies, allow one of our experienced engineering technicians to help with the design. By working through the prototype phase with our customers, we are able to help with lean manufacturing techniques to eliminate waste and additional cost. Allow us to help fabricate your custom assembly using the latest in estimating software geared specifically to the wire harness industry.

Our staff can:

- Identify components
- Source components
- Eliminate excess circuitry saving thousands
- Prototype processing for new product introduction

With our computer aided software, we are able to establish a preliminary price. Once an approved sample has been manufactured, a formal price will be determined. Our design expertise can save thousands of dollars in cost of goods for your company.

Serving the following industries:

- Automotive
- Industrial
- Computer
- Telecommunication
- Electronic
- Marine
